The History of the Junior Hunter Finals

Established in 2001, the USEF Junior Hunter Final showcases the best junior hunters in the nation and provides junior riders the opportunity to meet and spend time with other juniors from all over the country. Each year, more than 700 eligible hunters qualify to compete in this prestigious finals which is held over two days and comprised of three phases: a handy hunter round, a classic round, and an under saddle phase. The highest cumulative score for all three phases determines the ultimate winner. In addition, exhibitors and their families enjoy various social activities and celebrations designed to bring the junior riders together, foster camaraderie, and forge friendships.

Eligibility

Junior Hunters are eligible to compete in the USEF Junior Hunter Finals by earning a Championship or Reserve Championship in an "A" or "AA" rated Junior Hunter section at a USEF-licensed competition or by being Top Ten in their Zone on July 1.
