Rule Change Intent

Competitive opportunity and growth potential are of vital importance to our sport. USHJA is examining the processes that form our competition calendar and determine the competitive environment. As a first step, we are proposing changes to the mileage exemption process.

Mileage exemptions are an integral part of the USEF's calendaring process. As such, the process needs to be strong, transparent, and consistent.

This rule change proposal does the following:

1. Defines the role of the USEF's CEO as related to the mileage exemption processes
2. Defines how the Affiliate representative is selected for mileage exemption panels
3. Creates a new randomized process for the formation of the mileage exemption panels
4. Institutes training for all mileage panelists
5. Specifies that both the Internal Review Panel and the Mileage Exemption Panel will be given the same documentation to aid in the review of a mileage exemption request
6. Creates a process for writing and publishing a majority and minority opinion after the mileage review process is finished
